Sea-sore trip for pedal pair

Wolverhampton adventurer Steve Smith and his friend Jason Lewis wave to wellwishers as they leave Funchal on the island of Madeira heading for Miami in their pedal-powered boat.

Steve, aged 27, from Wood Road, Tettenhall, and Jason, 28, from Dorset, left London on July 12 for a round-the-world trip that is expected to last three years.

If they get to Miami they will be the first to cross the Atlantic by pedal boat.

The voyage to Florida in the £25,000 torpedo-shaped craft had been "easier than we thought" so far, said Jason.

The two expect to be at sea for between 86 and 100 days.
